

University of Northern Iowa
UNI ScholarWorks

Art on Campus Documents

Art on Campus

January 2009

Sand Mandala: Over Seven Days of Careful Construction, Northern Iowa Today, Spring 2009

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.uni.edu/artcampus_documents

Part of the Art and Design Commons, and the Buddhist Studies Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you

Sand Mandala

Over seven days of careful construction,

grains of sand become a spiritual work of art *through compassion,

concentration and collaboration.*

Destroyed with a single swipe; a reminder that nothing is permanent.

The University of Northern Iowa hosted four visitors from the Tibetan Cultural Institute and the University of Arkansas who constructed a sand mandala in the lobby of UNI's Gallagher-Bluedorn Performing Arts Center over seven days in April. View additional images and learn more at www.uni.edu/mandala.